WEBSITE CONTENT REVIEW

FLAT FEE PROJECT DESCRIPTION
$200

Client is engaged in the sale of nutritional supplements. The website has been recently revamped, which will include a marketing video. I need the video reviewed (written transcript) to assure the content is not misleading or an invitation to litigation. These supplements are not FDA approved with no guarantees.

Like with many herbal remedies, there is little scientific research to prove the benefits of the supplements.

PROJECT DETAILS

Review and prepare a redline version of website marketing video transcript, complete with cautionary comments and suggestions for the client to protect from any unforeseen liability as the result of the marketing materials.

It's important to make sure the client is not inadvertently preparing false or misleading materials.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

Rape Shield Laws: Can I bring up my accuser's past sexual history?

Massachusetts, like all States, has a law that prohibits a defendant from raising a sexual assault victim's past sexual conduct as part of the defense. There are several exceptions to this law, including:

Generally, a defendant cannot put up a defense that the victim is sexually active or has sex with a lot of people as part of the defense. The Rape Shield Laws are designed to protect the privacy of Rape Victims so that a woman does not fear embarrassment and avoids reporting a legitimate claim of sexual assault.

What if she has had psychiatric treatment? Can we use that to show she fabricated the charges?

Psychiatric and treatment records can be a great source of information to learn more about why they accuser is bringing forth allegations of sexual assault. However, it is very difficult to get these records without a detailed investigation. If a defendant makes a blanket claim that a victim is in counseling and therefore she must have talked about the incident, although that is logical, a judge would deny the request for records. Under the case of Commonwealth v. Dwyer, the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court set up a detailed procedure for how a defendant must acquire what the Court referred to as presumptively privileged records.

What is the difference between Rape and Indecent Assault and Battery?

What happens if the victim did not report the allegation right away can I still be charged?

How much will a defense cost for a sexual assault case?

Defending a charge of Rape or Indecent Assault and Battery often requires taking the case to trial to avoid a conviction. As a result, legal fees are much higher for this type of case than other types of criminal cases. Additionally, in almost all cases, you will need to hire an investigator to assist with the defense.

Will I have to register as a sex offender?

Can I challenge DNA evidence?

In case of rape, there may be DNA evidence revealing the statistical probability of a defendants DNA being found on the victim when DNA evidence is recovered. This testimony can be challenged in a number of ways:

One method to attack DNA testimony is to challenge the qualifications of the expert performing the DNA analysis.

How can I be charged with sexual assault when she consented?

Consent is often a defense in a sexual assault, rape or indecent assault and battery, assuming the victim is of the age that the victim can consent. When it is alleged that a sexual encounter was consensual, medical evidence will be important circumstantial evidence weighing in on consent if the charge is for Rape. If the charge is for an indecent assault and battery, there is unlikely to be medical evidence showing lack of consent. But in cases of Rape, whether there is any evidence of a struggle will be important circumstantial evidence.

PERSONAL INJURY WEB PAGE

$75

750 word web page on this topic:

What happens if I am injured at a fight in a bar or club?

If you were injured at a bar or club, you may have a claim to recover for your injuries. Many people are seriously injured in fights, slip and fall or even more serious violence like stabbings or shootings.

You can always recover against the person that caused your injuries. In most cases, that will not provide you with any recovery. In that case, you want to see if you have a claim for negligent security against the club and or owner of the club. Many bars and clubs have had repeated incidents of violence or police activity at their club. Your lawyer can investigate prior incidents of police activity at the club to develop a pattern of negligent security.

PROJECT DETAILS

Try to be specific and not general.

Looking for page on bar room and negligent security situations in club bar incidents.
